Some May Close Doors

By Ted Cox
tcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

The $38.6 million project involving the relocation and widening of US 27 in Garrard County from south of Camp Nelson to 1,500 feet south of KY 34 officially reached completion in August, and several businesses along the old roadway have felt the effect, both positive and negative.

"It has really hurt us and I don't care to say it," Craig Wilkinson, owner of Hill of Beans BP said. "July was a disaster. It was like as soon as they turned that light on people got lost. They just couldn't find us."

More than four years after state and local officials broke ground on the project in September 2007, Wilkinson had estimated a 10-20 percent drop in revenue, he now sees that estimate fell short.

"August and September have been better after we moved our sign to the other side of the property. But it's rainy and people are broke. My business has almost been cut in half," Wilkinson explained. "We aren't doing what we were, and therefore it makes it harder to do business. I have already let two or three people go and I will probably have to let three more go in the next two weeks. The people who are working are working 70 and 80 hours a week trying to keep us going. I'm real tired and

Chase Hampton Roution

Young Boy Found Unresponsive

Funeral Held Sunday

By Pattie Cox
pcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

A cause of death has not been determined in the case of a 4-year old boy who was found dead by his mother's fiancé last Thursday about 7 a.m., Garrard County Coroner Daryl Hodge said.

Apparently Chase Hampton Roution had medical problems, in fact a history of seizures and a trip to the emergency room for a minor scratch to his eye the day before. But there is nothing conclusive yet and it could take another couple of weeks before anything is released, Hodge said. The autopsy showed no signs of trauma or abuse, he added.

According to Hodge, the child got out of bed to go to the bathroom between 1:30 and 2 a.m. At about 2:30 a.m.

City Votes to Sue County Over 911 Fees

Friendly Suit Will Test Constitutionality Of New Ordinance

By Pattie Cox
pcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

A fee enacted by the Garrard Fiscal Court in September in order to rectify a problem with funding the county's emergency operations will be tested in a court of law.

The decision to sue the county over the fee simply to test its constitutionality and create a much needed precedent was made by the Lancaster City Council Monday night in a unanimous vote that followed an executive session to discuss the matter.

Kentucky Revised Statute 65.670 states that funding for 911 services may be obtained through the levy of any special tax, license or fee not in conflict with the Constitution and statutes of Kentucky. The problem is that it has never been tested and both local governments believe that should be done before they proceed with collecting money that might have to be refunded.

"The question is whether or not the fee will be viewed as a tax or as a user fee because it is unconstitutional to put a tax on water meters," City Attorney Beth Wesley said. "But we also want to protect the citizens and make sure those fees are placed constitutionally."

Currently 911 services are funded through a fee on land telephone lines. But with the overwhelming shift to cell phones, 200 just in the past month in the Garrard/Lincoln district alone, the fee falls on a select few holdouts, most specifically the elderly who continue to maintain land lines. In order to distribute the cost fairly, a first reading of an ordinance that would remove the monthly $3 fee from telephone bills and add a $2.50 fee to water bills did not proceed to a second reading and adoption. Instead the fiscal court opted to add a .25 cent minimal fee that did pass and not repeal the fee on the land-line telephones just in case it was deemed unconstitutional. If it is upheld, then the court's plan is to amend the ordinance to the original plan and repeal the land-line 9-1-1 fee.

The lawsuit will ask for declaratory judgment since no facts are in dispute. It is simply a question of the law, Judge Executive John Wilson explained.

Wesley will file the injunction this week because everyone wants this to move quickly. And since the case will be a first in Kentucky, it should draw state-wide interest. The state becomes a defendant with the attorney general joining as a party and Wilson expects both the Kentucky League of Cities and Kentucky Association of Counties to file amicus briefs, which means they volunteer to offer information to assist the court in deciding the matter, because they all are facing the exact same issue.

But even if Judge Hunter Daugherty finds in favor of the Garrard Fiscal Court, Wilson does not expect it to end there. He believes it will go to the court of appeals and that process will take some

Local Author Releases Second Novel For Middle Schoolers

By Pattie Cox
pcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Lula Bell on Geekdom Freakdom and the Challenges of Bad Hair, a second novel written for middle schoolers by local author Catherine Payne, was released Tuesday by Amazon Children's Publishing.

A story about a girl who is desperately trying to fit in by not standing out is given advice by her grandmother.

"Let your light shine," Grandma Bernice tells Lula Bell.

Grandma Bernice provides the joy that balances Lula Bell's difficult school life. But when Kali Keele turns up the heat on her cruel teasing and when the talent show that Lula Belle should have never signed up for is about to happen, Lula Belle's ability to cope is challenged.

Catherine Payne, the author of two novels geared toward middle-school aged children, "Something to Sing About," and "Lula Bell on Geekdom, Freakdom and the Challenges of Bad Hair," her newest book just released Tuesday by Amazon Children's Publishing, resides in northern Garrard County with her husband Mark and her daughter Laurel Grace, her best critic, first editor and photographer. Photo by Laurel Grace Payne

"This funny, heartfelt novel exploring friendship, family and forgiveness introduces an unforgettable heroine, lost in the wilderness of fifth grade, searching for her own shining light," the book jacket flap states.

One of the reviews, Kirkus Reviews, describes Payne's novel as a hopeful tale that encourages readers to rejoice in what makes them unique.

Catherine Payne's passion for writing began at a young age. But 13 years after she actually began to write novels, adult novels that were rejected by publishers in droves, everything changed. In 2008, Payne's first children's novel for middle schoolers, "Something to Sing About," was published.

Payne didn't know that would be her niche until her daughter, Laurel Grace, asked if she could read what her mother had written. But "Blending in at school is a very delicate art form. For starters, it requires the right lunch, the right clothes, the right friends and relatives who don't show up unexpectedly. And I have none of those things," an excerpt from the first chapter of "Lula Bell on Geekdom, Freakdom and the Challenges of Bad Hair" by local author Catherine Payne says.

Paint Lick Community Arts Center Grand Opening Friday

"An Evening with Ike Adams" at 6:00 PM on Thursday, October 11

POINTS EAST
By Ike Adams

Paint Lick is the place you need to have in your plans for the coming weekend! On Friday evening and the main part of the day on Saturday, our little village will look like a bee hive getting ready to swarm.

Things get underway at 5:30 PM on Friday when the long awaited and brand new Paint Lick Community Arts Center celebrates its grand opening with a painting exhibit featuring students already enrolled in the Center's oil painting classes. The exhibit will also display work by other area artists and will run through October 27.

Friday evening, complete with free refreshments and live fiddle/banjo music, will mark the official opening of our wonderful Arts Center and the beginning of an ongoing series of classes, exhibits and special events far too numerous to describe in much detail in my little column. Twenty events or classes are scheduled to take place or begin in the next 30 days alone!

However I will plug the fact that, along with 5 other special events scheduled over the next month, yours truly will be featured in a special event billed as "An Evening with Ike Adams" at 6:00 PM on Thursday, October 11. I will be telling tales, mostly tongue-in-cheek, about growing up on Blair Branch, deep in the eastern Kentucky mountains, in the 1950's and 60's and comparing life in the hills to life here in the flat lands. I promise to make you grin if you don't actually laugh out loud.

Admission is free but, as with all special events at The Arts Center, folks planning to attend should bring a dessert to share with the rest of the audience. You should also call or email the Center to let Hal or Yvonne Davis know that you plan to attend. They will also get to you a full schedule for The Paint Lick Community Arts Center. The phone number is: 859-925-2741. Email: halyvonnedavis@gmail.com

In other Paint Lick news, it does not seem possible, at least to me, that the first Friends of Paint Lick (FOPL) Autumn Village Fest took place well over 20 years ago. Those of us who were around back then are mostly too old to remember whether or not it was in '88 or '89 but it has happened every year since just like it will again on Saturday.

There was a time when FOPL volunteers worried themselves sick for weeks on end, wringing their hands, recruiting vendors, arranging parking spots, scheduling musicians, and making sure every i was dotted and every t was crossed.

Finally, about ten years ago, someone suggested that we just spread the word, park a tobacco wagon for a stage, get out of the way and let it happen. That plan, or lack thereof, continues to work like a railroad watch. We just wind it up and let it run.

All I can promise you for this weekend is that there will be live music, soup beans, potato soup and cornbread a plenty on Saturday and that everybody is welcome to join in.

If you have food or anything else to sell off a table, pick-up truck bed or the trunk of your car, come on down and set up your show.

Plenty parking is available on a first-come/first served basis except for space that we have reserved for Paint Lick Christian Church and the FOPL volunteers who will be dishing up the aforementioned pinto beans and tater soup.

If you just want to come out, have a good time, maybe buy some stuff you didn't know you needed and enjoy some great hospitality, everything should be buzzing by 9:00 AM. You may actually have to stop if you are travelling between Lancaster and Richmond on Highway 52! You will be glad you did and we'll be tickled to death to have you.

will be six years passed.

COME TO ME

God saw you were getting tired,
And a cure was not to be.
So He put His arms around you
And whispered, "Come to me."
With tearful eyes we watched you,
And saw you pass away
Although we loved you dearly,
We could not make you stay.
A golden heart stopped beating,
Hard working hands at rest.
God spoke to our hearts
to prove to us,
He only takes the best.

By your loving family

Thank You
From The Family Of
Carroll Broadus

The family of Carroll Broadus would like to send its deepest appreciation to all of those who supported us during Carroll's illness and death.

Many of you visited, sent cards, brought food to our house, but most importantly you prayed for us. You will never know how much those acts of kindness strengthened us and how much they were appreciated. The flowers and gifts sent in memory of Carroll have touched us deeply.

Spurlin Funeral Home provided us with such professional service, and the building at Camp Nelson National Cemetery was so dignified that it brought comfort to all who attended. We will be forever grateful for such a meaningful service.

Also thanks to the ladies of Victory Christian Church for providing us with such a delicious meal following the service. It gave us meaningful quality time with each other.

Thanks to each and every one of you, and may God bless you is our prayer.

Patsy, Ann, Billy & Marva

Thank You From The Family Of Herbert Prewitt

The family of Herbert Prewitt express their appreciation and thanks for the prayers, cards, food and visits during the passing of our father.

Also to the Spurlin Funeral Home, Lancaster Baptist Church and ladies of the church that prepared the wonderful meal, the ministers, pallbearers, the Christian Care Center for their care and devoting for nine years, Hospice for their tender care, and everyone who shared in our grief.

Things At A Glance

Romney and Obama held their debate
To tell us their good intentions
But to me it was more like having
One great big liar's convention.

They're good at talking in circles
They do it in speeches every day
Not saying exactly how it is
But what you want to hear them say.

Romney can save the country some money
And it won't even be very hard
Because I don't think he'll need
Four hundred people for a body guard.

Did I watch the great debate
No I can't say that I did
Because if I wanted something funny
I watch Cosby and his kids.

I think it comes down like
Any other political race
It's who can fool you the most.
While holding the straightest face.

The stock market went up in Poland
So no one knew what to do
While the Polish people laughed
And said " this time the joke's on you."

Around the world we're drilling for oil
To maybe help the economy grow
Except they're drilling for Jimmy Hoffa
Under driveways up in Chicago.

Dark times are about over here
Lancaster will soon see the light
Because before you know it
It'll be home game Friday night.

Habitat News

"We are very saddened by the loss of our faithful volunteer, Cecil Dunn, who last week lost his short battle against pancreatic cancer," Roberta Keefe with Garrard County Habitat for Humanity said. "He had said many times, he was ready to go to the Lord, but he just didn't want to go yet."

Dunn worked on every one of the 22 Habitat homes in our Garrard County area. He did not care what he did, he just loved to keep busy and work. One of his many sayings at the start of the workday was, "What is on the rail for the lizard today?" He was willing to work on any stage of a build, from sill plate to roof top. He did not mind a bit to go up the ladder to the highest gable peak. He did not mind to spend the day on the roof installing shingles or on the floor laying laminate flooring. His 88 years of age were beginning to show this last year as he was happy to quit work about noon. Usually, though, that just meant he would spend the rest of the day doing something else for someone and would not reach home until dark, especially in the summer when he worked on many of the yards of local businesses and private homes. He had very little patience for those who would not work.

Cecil was a Habitat Board member from the beginning of the affiliate and he rarely missed a meeting. He will be missed by our affiliate as well as by all of Lancaster. Very few people did not know Cecil Dunn. Our many volunteers from out of town knew him very well soon after the start of a build and would ask how he was long after their week was over. We always said the standard break time was when Cecil sat down, which was almost never.

We extend our sincere sympathies and prayers to his family.

Please call Roberta at 859-548-2270 to help build.

Shaken Baby

Dear Editor:

Perhaps, it is the political climate.

Perhaps, it is the economy.

Perhaps, it is the weather.

Or, perhaps I am just plain sick of stupid.

Fort Logan Hospital takes out a huge advertisement in the Central Record with a baby theme...

How about this, let's NOT SHAKE them, as the advertisement says.

Shaken Baby syndrome is unacceptable and punishable by law. Shaken Baby syndrome is tragic.

I really am sick of STUPID..is it just me?

Thanks For Giving A Helping Hand

Dear Editor,

Buena Vista Baptist Church would like to express their sincere gratitude to Dr. Justin Pratt (Lancaster Complete Family Dentistry), Dr. John Kemper (Dental Associates of Stanford) and Dr. Mark King (Periodontics and Implant Dentistry, Paris, KY) for volunteering their time to screen dental patients at our Touched Twice United Mission Clinic on September 15, 2012. Drs. Pratt and Kemper also donated free treatment to twenty patients!

A host of other local dentists donated treatment vouchers and we want to thank them as well: Dr. John Hankla, Danville; Dr. Susan Couzens, Danville; Dr. Catherine Fowler, Lexington; Dental Associates of Danville; Dr. Jessica Popplewell, Danville; Dr. Sarah Igbal, Danville; Dr. Gary Coleman, Stanford; Dr. Stephen Buchanan, Danville; Dr. Melissa Jones, Berea and Drs. Nathan & Carol Wilson, Nicholasville.

The church had 423 individuals come through its doors that day seeking help in some form or fashion, be it medical, dental, optometry, chiropractic, food, clothing or even to get their hair cut or a family portrait made. The Dental section screened about 65 patients and referred all of these patients for free treatment to a local dental office, thanks to these gracious dentists.

Again, words cannot express the heartfelt gratitude that we have.

Sincerely,
Missy Lockard

STARS FOR KIDS

STARS FOR KIDS NOW is a voluntary rating system for licensed and certified child care programs. Programs are given a 1 to 4 STAR levels are measurable quality indictors above the state minimum requirements.

Lil Rascals Learning Campus is participating in the STARS FOR KIDS NOW Program. Lil Rascals Learning Campus has been awarded a 1 STAR rating, indicating that the program is seeking quality standards beyond the requirements for facility licensure.

STAR rating are based on factors associated with good outcomes for young children such as staff to child ratios, program curriculum, and staff education and training. Children who are cared for in safe, stable, and nurturing environments tend to develop effective social skills, and more likely to be well prepared to enter school.

Child care programs that participate in STARS FOR KIDS NOW is eligible for achievement and incentive awards that will help to maintain and increase quality standards. Child care professionals can access a college scholarship fund, and have technical assistance from specially trained personnel to assist their program in meeting the quality standards that are part of STARS FOR KIDS NOW.

The Lil Rascals Learning Campus child care program is participating in STARS FOR KIDS NOW as a way of indicating to parents and others in the community that program staff are working to provide appropriate and safe care for children each and every day.

To contact the Lil Rascals Learning Campus child care program, call Tanah McGuffey or Crystal Justus at 859-548-2118.

Free Program That Provides Boost, Inspiration For Appalachian Women Taking Applications

For 25 years, over 600 women across Appalachia have been learning they have the strength and courage to finish their education and to build the self-esteem they need to find their potential. At no cost to them, women who find themselves in transition and are seeking to be inspired and build their confidence are doing just that through the New Opportunity School for Women (NOSW) in Berea, KY.

"For me, the NOSW was a chance of a lifetime. I wish every woman could attend. I feel more alive now. I feel like myself again. Before the school, I had gotten so depressed because I felt like my life was over because I couldn't work. Now I feel like I may be able to work again with the education that I'm now getting. Before the NOSW, I felt I was too old to go to college and begin again. Now I know that I'm not – I see a future in my life again," said a NOSW graduate from Norton, VA.

Now is the time to submit applications for the winter, 2013 session. Applicants who are selected and complete the three-week residential program will find themselves to be more self-sufficient, more confident, and will be an inspiration for their families and community. Additionally, the New Opportunity School staff and alumni provide a strong support system for graduates.

The New Opportunity School's unique program has received national recognition on Oprah and in People magazine. The 2013 NOSW Winter Residential Session is Feb 3-23. The deadline for application is Dec 1, 2012.

Requests for applications and/or additional information should be addressed to The New Opportunity School for Women, 204 Chestnut Street, Berea, KY 40403, or by calling 859-985-7200. Our website, www.nosw.org, provides additional information regarding our no-cost program and a printable application.

The New Opportunity School for Women, Inc. (NOSW) was founded in 1987 by Jane B. Stephenson to assist women of Appalachia and Kentucky in their pursuit of employment, education, and personal growth. The NOSW accepts women over 30 who have completed high school, have a GED (or actively working on a GED), and do not have a college degree. The program provides educational opportunities through classes in building self-esteem, computer basics, leadership development, Appalachian literature, self-defense, understanding violence against women, public speaking, learning how to become enrolled in further education, and cultural field trips and art related events. Job search skills will be identified and participants will learn to write resumes and practice interview techniques. Participants will intern in a field of interest, either on the Berea College campus or in the community. Health screenings include mammograms and pap tests. Lodging and meals are provided; grants for travel and childcare are available.

Receives Civil Engineering Scholarship

Jacob Warren, a 2011 graduate of Garrard County High School, has been selected to receive a full scholarship from the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet to pursue a degree in civil engineering technology at Bluegrass Community Technical College of the Kentucky Community and Technical College System.

There are only 12 of these scholarships available statewide, according to Nastasha F. Lacy, public information officer for the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet.

Currently, the scholarship is worth $10,000 for an Associate's of Science in Civil Engineering Technology Degree.

Students are offered the opportunity to work for the Cabinet during summer months as well as full-time employment upon graduation.

This award is more than a scholarship; it is a career. Students are chosen based on performance in high school, ACT scores, aptitude in math and science and career interests, Lacy said.

Laughs

By William Jerry Ayres

• Most smiles are started with another smile.

• A little girl stood in the door way of a shoe shop watching a man at work.

Little Girl: What are the shoes made out of?

Man: Hide

Little Girl: Ah-we-what?

Man: Hide, hide the cows outside

Little Girl: Don't care if it is, who's scared of an old cow anyway.

• Today money can't buy everything including what it used too.

• Sign in bank: remember part of what you earn belongs to you.

• Ron: What was your date like last night?

• Craig: Was that a girl, was that a girl, that's what people kept asking....was that a girl?

• Hog raising is boaring.

• Craig: Your husband took a shotgun to the ballgame but why??

Mrs. Fun: He heard the lions were playing the tigers.

• Smiles are really something that can be shared by both the young and old.

Farm to Table: Diversity In Agriculture III

By Mary Hixson
FCS Extension Agent

For the past two years the Garrard County Women in Agriculture have hosted a Seminar celebrating diversity in agriculture and the many businesses around agriculture as well as the business of agriculture. This year's Seminar will be on Saturday, October 27 at the Lancaster Baptist Church Family Life Center. This is a free Seminar for those who want to learn more about various topics including the following: starting seeds and keeping your seedlings healthy, learning about opportunities in lamb production, backyard chicken farming, beeswax production, recycling and agriculture, making your own washing powder and upcycling around your house and garage. Lunch is included with the seminar along with displays to enjoy. Registration information is available at the Extension Office. Call 702-3026 to learn more or to receive the registration information. Trail Pleasure Saddle Club News

The Trail Pleasure Saddle Club had a business meeting last Friday night at Logan Hubble Park. Several members showed up to discuss old and new business. It was decided that Sunday, October 7th would be a Logan Hubble Park workday. Anyone interested in helping to maintain the horse trails at Logan Hubble is encouraged to come out and help us. We will get started around 10 a.m. We thank you in advance. The next business meeting will be October 26th.

Saturday October 6th there will be a Poker Run horse ride at Red Hill Horse Camp in Livingston. The Jessamine County Saddle Club is sponsoring this ride. There is also a Cowboy Up For Christ Ride on October 6th. Contact number for this ride is 606-438-1309. There is a Relay for Life trail ride on October 20th at 1 p.m. in Crab Orchard. This ride is at Windy Hill Farm that is at #2750 & Saylor Road in Crab Orchard.

Just for laughs:

A city dweller came to a farm and saw a beautiful horse. Deciding he had to have it he bargained with the farmer and the farmer finally sold him the horse. The city man jumped on the horse and said, "Giddy up!" The horse ignored him. The farmer explained that the horse was special. The horse would only move if the rider said, 'Praise the Lord.' To stop the horse the rider had to say, 'Amen.' Keeping this in mind the new owner yelled, "Praise the Lord!" where upon the horse took off with great speed. Soon horse and rider were headed for a cliff. Just in time the new owner remembered to yell "Amen!" The horse came to a sliding stop right at the edge of the cliff. Relieved, the rider raised his eyes to heaven and exclaimed, "Praise the Lord!"

Have a good week, folks, and be careful.

The Romance Package

(The complete story was inadvertently not printed last week.)

By Shirley Woods

In February of this year I won a contest on a website for the magazine Kentucky Monthly. It had to do with a virtual internet board called Pinterest, where you "pin" items of interest you find online to a bulletin board. The contest was entitled "Sweet On Kentucky" and the "pins" to my board were to represent Kentucky.

When I discovered the contest, there were only a few hours left before the deadline, so I got busy. I knew I was going to win. I don't know why - I just did, and in a few days I got the call confirming I had won.

I really had given little thought to the prize so when the woman sent a confirmation email, I learned I had won an all-expense paid two night stay with several amenities at Opryland Hotel in Nashville. I had been there twice before but both times it was for conferences, so I was excited to go at no cost and to be free to do as I pleased. But here is the best part. The contest was centered on Valentine's Day, so my two day extravaganza was labeled the "Romance Package."

My husband's reaction is what makes this story worth telling and you have to know him to appreciate the humor. Joe does not have an ounce of romance in him. Zero. So when I shared the exciting news with him, he simply said "I'm not going."

"Not going? Joe, it's a romantic package. Free meals, free coupons, and 'a bottle of champagne accompanied by chocolate covered strawberries upon arrival.' That means I need a romantic partner." My plea fell on deaf ears.

I went ahead with what was required to confirm my prize: deciding on three possible dates, signing the necessary forms and sending them in.

I held out hope that Joe might change his mind. Sometimes he has to mull things over before he agrees to anything. But just in case he didn't I rocked back and forth as to whom to invite as my travel companion. I seriously considered going alone and using the time as a writer's retreat, but I finally decided I wanted my sister-in-law Joyce to go with me. After all I didn't want the hotel staff to feel sorry for me when I checked in alone and claimed my "Romantic Package."

The day finally arrived and off we went to the big city of Nashville. After running a few errands our trip was off to a good start with the exception of our GPS. The "voice" repeatedly told us to turn right 800 yards ahead, and since we knew she was giving us incorrect directions and proceeded on, she would then direct us to make a U-turn as soon as possible. We talked to Ms. Voice and called her silly names as she continued to tell us to turn around. If we had followed her directions we would have driven in an 800 square yard circle for three days. Poor thing was an excellent catalyst for laughter, though.

Luckily I had printed out MapQuest that took us right to the door of the hotel. Since there were no other costs, we opted for valet parking, and in no time we found ourselves before a friendly young lady at the check -in counter. Our reservations were pulled up, and after she consulted the screen she gave us a message from a local young Garrard County woman who is employed there. Thanks to her we received an upgrade to a room-with-a-view.

The lady at the desk looked again at her screen, and with a puzzled expression on her pretty face she looked at us and said, "Uh-h-h, I see that we have you in a king bed. Is that going to be a problem? Without any explanation on my part as to why two women were claiming a Romantic Package with a king bed I turned to Joyce and said, "I don't have a problem with it, do you Joyce?" She stated it was fine by her, as we exchanged mischievous looks. (We are pro's at situations like this; remember our story we gave to the young man at Target when we told him we were strippers - not giving away we were tobacco strippers?)We had discussed earlier that when we checked in, we would probably be considered a "couple", especially with the romantic package prize.

We made our way down the long corridors to an elevator that would take us to our room that overlooked a lush green environment with water features. Nice. Thanks, Lowavia for the complimentary upgrade.

We were tired from the long drive so we kicked off our shoes and Joyce sprawled out on the bed while I sat on the balcony. Soon there was a knock on the door. I opened it to find a young man who delivered one of our amenities; a bottle of bubbly and six chocolate and white- chocolate covered strawberries. He asked if he could uncork the bottle and since Joyce, nor I, carry a corkscrew in our purses, my answer was yes. With slight pomp and circumstance – at least to me since I am not used to having someone pour me a glass of anything - he poured a little in a wine glass and gave it to me. Repeating the process he turned to my "partner." If he was surprised to see another woman instead of a man he concealed it well.

The next day after we had toured the grounds, took a short boat ride, and ate supper we returned to our room to find a plate full of homemade cookies with a note that milk was in the refrigerator. This was compliments of another young Garrard County native who works there. See, it really does pay to know people in high places, so big thanks also go to Heather.

Our mini vacation was not the first time either of us had been to the Opryland Hotel but it was the first time we had been there together. Joyce and I are just two country girls that raised our own three-acre tobacco crop one year. We always have fun when we are together whether we are in a tobacco barn, in one of our backyards, or on vacation.

If I ever win another trip I hope Joe will go with me, but if he doesn't I can always count on Joyce. It's highly unlikely we'll ever win another romance package with chocolate strawberries and champagne, but that's okay. An RC and a moon pie befit us country girls better anyway.

Kentucky Association Of Food Banks Respond To New Data On Kentucky Poverty Numbers

Nineteen percent in Kentucky lived in poverty in 2011; Cuts to Food Stamps and other Federal Nutrition Programs Will Cause Many Hardships

CHICAGO – The U.S. Census released new statistics last week which find that 19% of people in Kentucky—including more than one in four children-- lived in poverty in 2011. This is an increase from 17% in 2008 and places the Commonwealth in a tie for 46th place compared to other states and the District of Colombia. The poverty threshold for a family of four was $22,811 in 2011.

"The data clearly demonstrate that many families in Kentucky are truly struggling to get by from one week to the next," said Tamara Sandberg, Executive Director of the Kentucky Association of Food Banks. "At a time when so many find it difficult to put meals on the table, we are baffled at the proposed cut of more than $16 billion to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP, formerly known as food stamps)."

Congress recently proposed cuts to SNAP as part of the Farm Bill reauthorization that would cause two to three million individuals across the nation to lose their food assistance entirely; an additional 500,000 households to have their SNAP benefits cut by an average of $90 per month; and nearly 300,000 children to lose free school meals.

The report also provided updated data about income, showing a decline in median household income in the Commonwealth since 2008.

"We have seen an 84% increase in the number of people receiving help from Kentucky food banks in the last six years," Sandberg said. Members of the association distributed 50.9 million pounds of food and grocery products in 2011, which is the equivalent of 39 million meals. "There is no way our food banks will be able to meet the increased need for emergency food assistance if SNAP benefits are cut. We urge Congress to maintain Washington's historic bipartisan commitment to programs that serve vulnerable, low-income people and ensure strong funding for SNAP and other anti-hunger programs."

The full report can be viewed here: http://www.census.gov/acs/www/data_documentation/2011_release/

About the Kentucky Association of Food Banks

The Kentucky Association of Food Banks is comprised of seven Feeding America food banks that reach all 120 counties of Kentucky and serve an estimated 1 in 7 of all Kentuckians annually. Last year, its members distributed 50.9 million pounds of food and grocery products —the equivalent of 39,000,000 meals — to more than 1,000 charitable feeding agencies such as pantries, soup kitchens, and shelters.

Northern Garrard Business - US 27

(From Front)

I don't know what the future holds."

For Hill of Beans, the impact has been felt, for the most part, after construction was completed.

"We were rolling along just like always up until the new road opened. The concept of no direct access is the killer," Wilkinson said. "If something doesn't happen in the next 90 days or so I don't know if we will be able to keep the doors open."

For businesses that suffer a loss over a short period of time may have trouble keeping up with the regular bills that come in, even after business picks up it becomes difficult to climb out of the hole left by the loss in revenues. But Hill of Beans isn't alone in this struggle. The Woodshack, which has operated in northern Garrard at the same location for the past quarter century, is suffering from a similar fate.

"Certainly last year, while the exit at 152 was closed down for an entire year, was difficult," Danna Tuggle, owner of the Woodshack, said. "Now that the ramp is back open business is starting to return to normal gradually. The road definitely needed to be done. It needed to be widened. But we don't know if we will turn around from what they did to us last year because we are left in about a $50,000 hole."

Tuggle maintains that the improvements to the highway are very important and says that ultimately her business may be in a better position, away from the congestion of pulling on and off of the road in front of the business.

"Pulling on and off of our property was just too deadly. A lady was killed in front of the shop a couple of years ago and it was devastating for us to even know if we wanted to keep the doors open when people are dying in front of the store."

In 2007, when the project began to take shape, the daily traffic count reached about 18,500 vehicles per day, yet is expected to grow to 37,000 within 20 years.

"Overall it needed widened. My family is on this road everyday and it was a highly dangerous road before," Tuggle added. "I'm glad that they did it but they could certainly work on how they treat local businesses and the community in the interim. I think if they took the time to be a little more considerate to the lives that they are involving in their construction then it would work out for everyone better in the long run. Having someone else in control of your destiny is hard to swallow."

However, the story isn't all bad for all businesses affected by the new highway. Rocky Top Shell has even been able to expand and is now doing more business than ever.

"It seems like the road has helped a lot," David Gibson, owner of Rocky Top Shell, said. "It is a lot easier to get in and out of here now and it seems like people really like it and it's a really nice road."

Rocky Top took a unique route by moving to a new location early on before the construction affected them too drastically.

"They got close to us in the summer of 2009 and we moved out at the old location in February of 2010," Gibson said. "But it sure was a long time coming. I remember they had the first meeting and told me that they would be coming right through my store back in 1998. It took them that long. That's a long time."

Ultimately Gibson thinks his business is much better off after the move.

"I'm tickled to death with the new location," Gibson said, summing it up. "It is really going good for us."

This project is the ninth of ten similar projects in Kentucky, in which different phases, such as design and construction, continue simultaneously. Success with each has varied.

Another project to widen US 27 from Ky. 34 to the US 150 Bypass in Stanford is planned for the future, though no time tables on that project have yet been released.

US 27 enters Kentucky near Whitley City. The first major town it goes through is Somerset, followed by Nicholasville, and Lexington, where it begins a concurrency with US 68 that continues to Paris. US 27 continues north from there through Cynthiana, Falmouth, Alexandria, Highland Heights, Fort Thomas, and Newport before crossing into Ohio at Cincinnati via Taylor-Southgate Bridge.

Sudden Death

his mother, Kristen Whittamore heard him playing in his room and made him go back to bed. That's the last time the boy was seen alive.

Whittamore's fiancé went into the boy's bedroom to put him in his mother's bed just before he headed off to work before 7 a.m. He tried to roll the boy over, Hodge said, but he was unresponsive and his eyes were glazed over. He awakened Whittamore and they took the boy into the hallway to administer CPR but they could not revive him. They then called a neighbor who called 9-1-1 and when emergency personnel arrived, they called Hodge.

Hodge said they were in the process of collecting medical data from area hospitals where the child had been seen since his birth to aid them in making a ruling, hopefully by the middle of October.

Kentucky State Police Trooper Monty Owen is the lead investigator.

The boy's obituary can be found on Page A2.

Local Author Second Novel

(From Front)

Payne told her, point blank, "No. They are for adults."

Laurel Grace then asked her mother to write something she could read and writing for children simply happened.

Payne said that's when the lights turned on and the story began to flow. "Something to Sing About" was named to Booklist's top-10 best list in 2010 and was nominated for the Children's Crown Award and the Kentucky Bluegrass Award.

And Laurel Grace has become her first editor, so to speak.

"She reads it first," Payne said back in 2010. "If she doesn't get it or doesn't think it's funny, I know I have work to do."

Originally from Lexington where her family still lives today, Payne graduated from Henry Clay High School. She attended the University of Kentucky first and eventually transferred to Georgetown College but did not finish, calling the decision a blessing in disguise.

"I was not such a great student except in English," Payne said in her distinctly southern accent. "College algebra? I didn't so much want to do that."

She moved to Nashville with Logan's Roadhouse as a dining-room manager and met her husband Mark. They married, had Laurel Grace and decided to move to Kentucky in 2008.

On awaiting the release of "Lula Bell on Geekdom, Freakdom and the Challenges of Bad Hair" as the deadline for her third novel consumes her time now, Payne, appropriate to the age of her readers, said, "It feels a lot like the first day of school is approaching: I just hope I'll be okay, and smell okay, and won't get anything stuck in my teeth."

"Lula Bell on Geekdom, Freakdom and the Challenges of Bad Hair" can be ordered by visiting Payne's website at www.ccpayne.net. You can also catch a glimpse of what's in store by reading the first chapter.

School Board Approves Working Budget For 2012-13

By Ted Cox
tcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Following an announcement earlier this month that school taxes would remain the same as last year, the school board has passed their working budget for 2012-13 at a special meeting last Thursday night.

The district will still be ahead due to an increase of about $480,000 last year. With $600,000 in reserve expenditures, funds used to pay retirees their accumulated sick leave, and $2.1 million in carryover, cash comes in at $2.7 million, a figure Superintendent Donald Aldridge says he can live with. It's also very close to the 10 percent mark in contingency funds he believes the district should strive to maintain.

"We have $464,000 more at the beginning of this year than last year," Aldridge explained to the board. "We don't need to get carried away and expect to see a half a million dollar gain each year. This is a good balance."

One item that Aldridge said stuck out to him was SEEK funding. The Support Education Excellence in Kentucky (SEEK) funding program is a formula driven allocation of state provided funds to local school districts. The formula includes funding for transportation costs and special needs students as reported by districts.

SEEK funding has decreased the last two years partially due to the increase in enrollment. That causes a shortfall and, in the end, districts end up giving back some of their funding.

""We are receiving $231,354 less than last year," Aldridge told the board.

In other business the board approved moving a teacher instructional day that coincided with the national presidential election.

Rainy Day Accidents Begin To Pile Up On Tuesday

By Jim Cox
jcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Three accidents occurred during the rain Monday afternoon approximately at the same time in different parts of the county.

Sheila Mendenhall, 48, of 421 Kemper Lane, Lancaster, was traveling north near Sugar Creek Rd just outside of town when her vehicle left the road, went through a fence and ended up on its side.

The accident took place at approximately 3:55 p.m. The road was wet from rain.

According to the police report, Mendenhall applied her brakes in a down hill curve, lost traction and began to skid. The 1991 Toyota 4-Runner left the road and crashed through a fence belonging to Michael Kirby, 1234 Lexington Road. The vehicle came to rest on its side next to a brick entrance gate to the property.

Mendenhall was transported by ambulance to Ephraim McDowell Medical Center.

Also at around 4 p.m. during the rain, another accident happened on Fall Lick Road (KY 1972) approximately 1 mile south of Lancaster.

David Browning, 66, 336 Browning Way, Lancaster, was slowing or stop at the Fall Lick Road intersection, getting ready to make a turn when a vehicle driven by Michael Scherbing, 37, of 1527 Crab Orchard Road, Lancaster came over the hill and slid into the rear bumper of his vehicle.

According to the police report, the roadway was wet and the tires on Scherbing's vehicle had "very little tread."

Browning was driving a 2006 Chevrolet Colorado Crew Cab and Scherbing was in a 1992 Jeep Cherokee. Both vehicles received minor damage. Passengers were in both vehicles. No injuries were reported.

The third accident happened about 30 minutes later on KY 1295.

According to the police report, Angelena Davis, 24, of 53 Woodburn Lane, Lancaster, was traveling east on Kirksville Road when she came into a curve, lost control and struck a guardrail on the rain slick road.

The vehicle spun around and hit the guardrail on the front driver side and finally came to rest facing west in the other traffic lane.

She was driving a 2004 Chrysler Sebring, which received minor damage. No injuries were reported.

Engine 3 Declared As Surplus - Still No Approval To Sell

time.

That means the fee on the land lines will remain until a final decision is made.

"I look forward to seeing where this takes us and toward the future of funding our 9-1-1 operations," Wesley said, "and establishing possible new law for Kentucky."

Engine 3 Declared As Surplus
Still No Approval To Sell

Lancaster Fire Chief Richard Sebastian asked the city council to declare engine 3 as surplus so he could proceed with selling the 25-year-old fire engine that was recently replaced with a brand-new state-of-the-art fire engine. Although the council did vote to declare engine 3 as surplus, selling it right now to one of the interested parties is still in question.

Sebastian has been offered $25,000, about the maximum he believes the engine will bring, from the White Hall Volunteer Fire Department in Madison County. In fact White Hall's fire chief was on hand to make his intention known to the council. But council members were not sure if they could go ahead with a direct sale or if they would need to put the engine up for bids first. With Judge Executive John Wilson on hand in the audience during the meeting, he spoke up citing the law, KRS 45A-425, that allows the sale to take place directly between governmental agencies without being put up for bid.

Still council members want to wait. With other cities interested in the engine, they want to get as much as they can.

"To accept a price would be jumping the gun," Councilman Bret Baierlein said.

So putting the engine up for bid anyway was discussed.

The council asked Sebastian to call the other interested parties to make firm offers. At that point he will return to the council with the information and seek approval to sell the engine.

Water Plant Contract With Bell Engineering Is Valid
City To Purchase Scanner To Maintain Legal Documents/ Hire Intern To Input Data

Councilmen approved the purchase of a scanner to maintain the city's documents in light of an issue with finding the city's copy of a contract with Bell Engineering to build a new water plant in Lancaster.

"I just think that would be a good move," Mick said. "We had to go to Bell to find the contract because it had been misplaced at City Hall."

The issue came about when Councilperson Maggie Mick began to question where the city stood with Bell Engineering and their involvement with the city in building a new water plant. Mick did a bit of research, located the contract with help from City Clerk Shari Lane and reported back to the council her findings.

The contract with Bell giving them design, study and building phases was approved in October 2009. Then in August 2011 a decision was made to move forward with building a new water plant, pending obtaining the money to do so.

"I'm just wondering if we're going to move forward with negotiations with Garrard County Water Association," Mick said, due to the fact that GCWA made it clear they were not interested in a long-term contract with the city, a requirement by the United States Department of Agriculture Rural Development in order to receive the final funding awards, $2.308 million in grant money and $6.3 million in loans, more than 50 percent of the estimated cost of the new plant at $12.1 million.

And since Bell has already been paid about $300,000 for work already completed on the plant (design and study) taken from Kentucky Infrastructure Authority grants that were originally awarded for sewer projects, Mick is concerned about where this is going.

"I'm waiting until notes have been compared between engineering firms," Mayor Brenda Powers said.

The independent study, accomplished by Salt River Engineering, basically told the city they cannot build the plant if Garrard Water does not come on board because of the fact that it purchased more water than the city uses. Connie Allen told everyone during that informal meeting held on August 14 to discuss the findings that it would be a better plan for Garrard Water to take the lead as the seller and the city become the purchaser. The meeting ended with the parties involved agreeing to share notes since numbers were not jiving and that process is still ongoing.

The President of GCWA, Paul Reynolds, said on Tuesday that he has been in contact with both engineers and is trying to prod them forward but that no results were available.

"They need to get something going here very soon, in my opinion," Reynolds said.

Once that process is complete, Reynolds said he is willing, as planned, to sit down with the city and talk.

"We need to see how legitimate the numbers are and go forward from there," he added.

Although Mick said she is more comfortable with the city's agreement with Bell, she remains concerned about moving forward in a timely fashion.

"We need to use the grants," Powers added. But using them without GCWA on board is going to be difficult.

"We can only use them if we build."

In Other City Business:

• The second reading and adoption of the amendment to the city nuisance ordinance which prohibits permanent occupants in recreational vehicles was passed.

• McKinley Dailey with the Grand Theatre Board asked the council to close the alley behind the theater from West Maple Avenue to the alley that separates the Grand Theater from the Library in order to create additional parking spaces. The council agreed to deeding the space with some changes requested by business owner Tim Nunemaker who needs access for product deliveries and as long as fire trucks will still have access into the area to protect the buildings. The motion carried pending the necessary legal action for the deed and Nunemaker's easement. Dailey also requested the city's funding assistance in blacktopping the alley between the Grand and the library. Dailey agreed to get estimates which in turn the city will pay for out of municipal aid.

• The Lancaster Police Department reported 547 calls for service during the month of September. Officers handled 22 thefts, 12 domestic disputes, nine accidents and 37 reckless-driving complaints. They also responded to eight alarms, hosted five visitors and assisted with six welfare checks along with handling 246 general complaints. Sargent Rick Shearer advised the council that the department's new policy was in effect and that new police radios would be installed in the next couple of weeks. He also reported that the a survey asking for the community's input would be going out with the water bills this month.

• September activity for the Lancaster Fire Department consisted of two fire runs, two illegal burns, two vehicle accidents, two smoke investigation, one gasoline spill, two CO2 alarms, two natural gas leaks, two fire alarms and seven lockouts. The city also assisted EMS on four occasions and Camp Dick Fire and Rescue as the rapid-intervention team one time. The ladder truck was used to help remove a man from the top of his house boat when he was injured by an electric line. Sebastian announced that his department would begin the process for the 2012 Christmas toy drive in the near future.

• The council accepted an $800 bid for one of the two city vehicles that were recently replaced. The S-10 truck, originally spoken for by Crab Orchard who decided to buy new instead, was declared surplus and will be advertised for bids this week.

• Mayor Powers attended the Governor's Local Issues Conference in Frankfort last month but had nothing to report, she said. "It's about the same," she said, when Councilman Brandon McGlone asked her what she had learned. "I met a lot of contacts but nothing new as I know of." Powers intends to attend the Kentucky League of Cities conference in Lexington this month also.

• Lancaster set the local trick-or-treat time on Halloween night, Wednesday, October 31, from 6 to 8 p.m.

• Due to conflicts, council members agreed to move the next two regular meeting to Tuesday, Nov. 13 and Tuesday, Dec. 11, 7 p.m. in City Hall.

GARRARD COUNTY COURTHOUSE, DISTRICT COURTROOM
54 STANFORD STREET, LANCASTER, KENTUCKY

In order to comply with the orders of the Garrard Circuit Court, Christopher L. Stansbury, Special Master Commissioner of the Garrard Circuit Court will sell the property described in the action found and described below in the Garrard County Courthouse, District Courtroom, 54 Stanford Street, Lancaster, Kentucky. Said property shall be sold to raise the amount set forth below plus interest and other costs as stated in the judgment referenced. The sale of the property will be subject to the following terms and conditions:

The terms of the sale shall be either cash or ten (10%) percent of the purchase price in the form of a cash deposit at the time of sale and balance of the purchase price on a credit of 60 days. If the purchaser elects to take credit for the balance then the purchaser will be required to post bond and furnish acceptable surety thereon. Said bond shall be for the unpaid balance of the purchase price and bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) percent per annum from the date of the confirmation of the sale until paid.

The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay all taxes levied against the property for the current tax year and all subsequent years. The sale of the real estate shall be made subject to all zoning and building regulations, restrictions, ordinances, easements, covenants, and rights-of-way, of record, or otherwise. The property shall be sold "as is". Risk of loss shall pass to the purchaser upon execution of bond of sale or payment of the purchase price in full which ever occurs first.

A right of redemption may exist in favor of any party.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser upon confirmation of the report of sale by the Garrard Circuit Court, delivery of a Commissioner's Deed to the purchaser and full payment of the purchase price plus interest as herein before described.

The property address contained herein is for convenience only. The property will be sold pursuant to the legal description contained in the judgment.

Historic Markers Commemorate Camp Dick Robinson

As part of the $38.6 million project involving the relocation and widening of US 27 in Garrard County from south of Camp Nelson to 1,500 feet south of KY 34, several markers were placed near Camp Dick Robinson to commemorate its role in the Civil War and history of the region.

Phil Logsdon, with the Department of Transportation was involved in the development of the roadway project and the decision to include the wayside panels as mitigation for unavoidable project impacts to the site of Camp Dick Robinson.

Because of the project, considerable research was completed which adds to our understanding of the rich history of the Camp, according to Logsdon.

Camp Dick Robinson was the first of its kind organized south of the Ohio River after the Civil War became imminent. Soldiers stationed there during the sectional strife of the 1860s could never fail to recognize it as their original place of military instruction. The farm upon which the home was situated contained about 335 acres and was one of the very best and richest tracts of land in the Bluegrass. Its fertile soil had proved an ideal spot for the cultivation of everything Kentucky can raise.

Established on the farm of Richard Robinson in August 1861 by Union officer and Maysville native William "Bull" Nelson, many of Kentucky's first Union regiments were formed there. The site soon became a staging ground for several early military campaigns.

When the camp was established, Kentucky was attempting to stay neutral in the conflict. Although Gov. Beriah Magoffin complained to Abraham Lincoln about the site, Lincoln responded that since the camp "consists exclusively of Kentuckians" and that it was not the "popular wish of Kentucky" to close it, he refused to remove the soldiers.

In 1862, Confederates took the area, renamed the site "Camp Breckinridge," and used it as a supply base. That October, the rebels fell back to Perryville to stay between Union forces and the supplies, which resulted in the Battle of Perryville.

Camp Nelson, established north of Garrard County near Nicholasville, ultimately replaced Camp Dick Robinson. Today, Camp Dick Robinson is remembered for helping solidify the Union cause in Kentucky.

The markers will be officially unveiled during the ribbon-cutting event marking the completion of construction on US 27, scheduled for sometime later this month. The official date has not yet been announced.

As part of the $38.6 millionUS 27 expansion in northern Garrard, several markers were placed near Camp Dick Robinson to commemorate its role in the Civil War and history of the region.

Garrard County Public Library Hosts Prime Time Family Reading Time

By Ted Cox
tcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Prime Time Reading is designed to encourage parents and children to read and discuss humanities topics and aids them in selecting books and becoming active library users. The scholar is Dr. Gwynn Henderson and storyteller is Yolantha Pace.

Garrard County families now have a better alternative to television for the next couple of Tuesday nights as professional storytellers bring pages to life at the Garrard County Public Library. Children ages six to ten who are experiencing difficulty with reading, are invited to participate in Prime Time Family Reading Time, a free reading, discussion and storytelling series based on illustrated children's books hosted by the Garrard County Public Library.

The Garrard County Public Library is one of eleven libraries statewide selected to participate in this project. Prime Time Family Reading Time is funded by the Kentucky Humanities Council with a grant from the National Endowment for Humanities "We The People" funding from the Institute of Museum and Library Services through the Kentucky Department for Libraries and Archives, the Scripps Howard Foundation, and by contributions from private donors.

"The Prime Time Family Reading Program is one of the many important programs and resources offered by the Kentucky Humanities Council and the Garrard County Public Library," Nathan Mick, who helped to secure the funding, said. "We are extremely grateful to the Kentucky Humanities Council, the Garrard County Public Library and the many local sponsors for providing this Prime Time learning opportunity for families in our community."

Prime Time is designed to encourage parents and children to read and discuss humanities topics and aids them in selecting books and becoming active library users. Separate activities are also available for pre-school children ages 3 to 5. It is offered by a partnership that consists of the library, a scholar/discussion leader, a storyteller and a statewide organization representative. Laura McWilliams is leading the partnership. The scholar is Dr. Gwynn Henderson and storyteller is Yolantha Pace.

"We are very excited to be part of this nationwide effort that offers an opportunity for families to learn the concept of reading together in a humanities-based project," said Laura McWilliams, Director of the Garrard County Public Library. "Public libraries have long been places where adult and child learners can learn and practice new skills. This project offers a unique opportunity for the library to expand family literacy opportunities and make a significant contribution to a more literate nation."

Reading and discussion leaders will conduct 90-minute meetings at public libraries for parents or guardians and their children. At each session, a storyteller will present stories and will model reading aloud. A humanities scholar will serve as the discussion leader. The librarian will introduce families to library resources and services. Younger siblings, age 3 to 5 will participate in separate pre-reading activities.

The program is held on Tuesday evenings beginning on September 11 through October 16 at 5:30 p.m. at the Garrard County Public Library in Lancaster, Ky. Register for the program continues and you may call 859-792-3424 if interested. Programs include a family meal in addition to the storytelling discussion.

The events are made possible by local sponsors Farmer's National Bank, Whitaker Bank, First Southern National Bank, Cundiff Chiropractic, Intercounty Energy, Mid-Continent University, Garrard County Family Resource Center, Town & Country Shoes and Joe and Connie Brown.

For more information, contact the Garrard County Public Library or garrardlibrary@gmail.com.

Local Father And Daughter Team Bring Fantasy To Life Through Their Book Series

By Sarah Hall
And Ted Cox
tcox@garrardcentralrecord.com

Lucas McWilliams with his daughter Sophia works together writing fantasy fiction books called, "Wielders."

Most young people today don't get excited by reading, with the advent of the computer age. However those that do find themselves in a world of imagination, where anything is possible. But for one local girl, with the guiding hand of her father, she has been able to create her own fantasy worlds that she can bring to life on the page and share with others of her own age group.

Sophia McWilliams, and her father Lucas, are currently writing, having already published two installments, the fantasy fiction books called, "Wielders."

Sophia is a sixth grader in middle school whose father, Lucas, offered to work with her on a series of books. Thus Wielders was born.

"The first four books are finished," Sophia said. "We now have an artist and are on our way to publishing all of the books."

By the middle of her 6th grade year, she was having a real problem with language arts. Then in February of 2012, she started writing Wielders with her dad.

"I paid attention to how my dad wrote on the computer screen as we worked on the book together. I learned when he made mistakes and corrected them. Grammar started to make more sense to me. This led to me immediately doing better in Language Arts. It became my favorite subject. It even led me to being awarded the Sixth Grade Gold Language Arts Award. I was amazed at how much writing had changed my life," Sophia said.

"Now I help edit all the books we write. I often annoy my dad while he is writing when I see him make a mistake. He always says, 'Let's just get it in the computer then we can go back and edit it.' My dad pushes me to write and edit," she added.

Sophia came up with the original story. She has a journal full of story ideas, inspired by her father who really pushed her to be a writer. Lucas has been writing for a while. He owned a comic book store, and has published a book for young adults called "Savage Summer."

Wielders tells a story of being transported to another world where five friends become Wielders of magic creatures called phasers. Together they form a league team called the Dreamers. Just as they are starting to figure out this new world, they have to battle a monstrous phaser who is chasing a young girl, but will the Dreamers be strong enough to save her? You'll have to read the books to find out.

If there is a moral to the stories, it is friendship, an honest reflection of the bond shared by the father and daughter team who put them down on paper.

"I don't always want to write but once we get going it is fun. I write because I like telling stories and it's fun. Doing it too much can seem a little like work. But seeing my books come out makes it all good," Sophia said.

The book is available for purchase through Amazon.com. For more information visit weilders.us or Lucas's website www.lucasmcwilliams.com.

Lady Lions Win On Senior Night

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County celebrated Senior Night in style last Thursday night with a 6-0 win over Wayne County.

The Lady Lions were in control from the start and put 40 shots on goal to only one for the Lady Cardinals.

"I saw much improvement tonight," Garrard coach Andy Floyd said. "We played as a team. We fell off some in the second half where we were just trying to get the ball in the goal."

Mary Ezaizat, one of six seniors playing in their last home game for the Lady Lions, got Garrard on the board early with a goal just six minutes into the contest.

The score stayed 1-0 until Autumn Murray, another senior, scored with 16 minutes to play in the half. Junior Taylor Holman added a goal a minute later to give Garrard a 3-0 lead at intermission.

Ezaizat picked up her second goal of the night just four minutes into the second half and scored off an assist by fellow senior Danielle Smith with 13 minutes to play.

Kendra Rich, still another senior, capped off the big night with a goal with five minutes to play in the game.

The win improves the Lady Lions to 5-11 on the year while the Lady Cards drop to 4-7-1.

"We're getting better but not where we need to be" Floyd said.

Lions Blank Burgin 4-0

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County defeated Burgin last Tuesday to get within a game of the 500 mark at 5-6 with one regular season game to play, October 4 on Senior Night.

"It was a good win. We have been improving with each game," Garrard coach Kevin Green said. "Now we want to get to 500 and send the seniors out on a good note."

Jesse Ray got the Lions on the board first before Stallone Morales headed in a corner kick from Taylor Swanson.

Swanson scored Garrard's third goal when he knocked in a deflected corner kick and Ray rounded out the scoring with his second goal.

Burgin fell to 1-13-1 with the loss.

Williams Runs For 340 Yards In Garrard's Win At Powell

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County junior running back Noah Williams ran for 340 yards and three touchdowns on 44 carries to lead the Golden Lions to a 28-14 District Five win Friday night at Powell County in a game played in terrible field conditions.

"What a special night Noah had," Garrard coach Mark Scenters said. "He ran with confidence and had a great night. It was good to get back on the winning side of the scoreboard."

With the heavy rains in the Stanton area earlier in the day the field was soaked and a heavy fog covered the field for a big part of the game but that didn't stop Williams.

Late in the first period Garrard took the ball at its own 14 yard line after a Pirate punt and proceeded to march 86 yards for the game's first score with Williams getting all 12 carries and scoring from three yards out.

With extra points being an adventure the last couple of weeks for the Lions Garrett Caudill just ran this one in for two points to give Garrard an 8-0 lead with 8:31 remaining in the half.

On Powell's ensuing possession Pirate quarterback Matt Brooks fumbled a snap and Garrard's Bradley Rector came away with the ball at the Powell County 44 yard line.

It was Williams' time again as he picked up 20 yards on four carries before quarterback Billy Abney hit Caudill with a pass to the Pirate five yard line and two plays later Williams was in the end zone again from two yards out. This time the PAT was no good.

Garrard defenders Clay Shuey (81), J.T. Lyon (32) and Bradley Rector (50) stop a Powell County runner early in the Lions win over the Pirates

Garrard looked set to take a 14-0 lead into the halftime break but Powell managed to get on the board when Brooks scrambled and found an open Chance Snowden in the end zone from seven yards out with 1:26 to play to make the score 14-7 at the half.

Garrard executed another long march late in the third period, going 74 yards in 11 plays with Williams again carrying the bulk of the load but freshman Jaylan McPherson got the touchdown on a 10 yard run.

Powell had a nice drive of its own covering 82 yards in 10 plays late in the game to get within a touchdown at 20-14 with 2:58 to play on a one yard run by Kienan Tiller.

After Garrard recovered the ensuing onside kick the Lions were attempting to just run out the clock but Williams got loose from 35 yards out for a score to cap off his great night. This time Caudill again ran in the conversion for the 28-14 final.

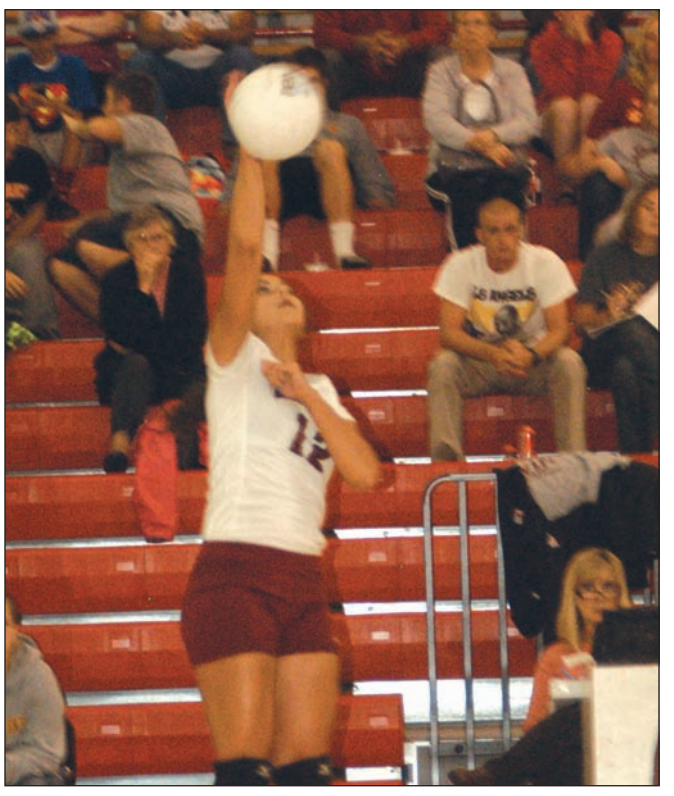

Garrard County had 386 total yards while Powell County finished with only 232 total yards.

"Although our defense gave up a couple of big plays in the passing game overall it was another very solid perfromance," Scenters said.

The Lions return home Friday night to take on an undefeated Bourbon County team in a huge District 5 battle.

Postseason Schedules

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Three Garrard County fall sports teams begin postseason play in the 45th District on the same night, at the same time but at three different venues making it sorta hard to give coverage to all three.

The Garrard boys' soccer team plays host to the district and the Lions play Danville at 8 pm on October 8. Boyle County plays Lincoln County at 6 pm.

The Garrard County girls play Boyle County at 8 pm on the 8th at Lincoln County with Danville meeting Lincoln County at 6 pm.

The volleyball tournament will be played at Boyle County with the Lady Lions taking on Lincoln County at 8 pm after Danville battles Boyle County at 6 pm, also on the 8th.

Both soccer finals are at 7 pm on October 10th. The volleyball final is at 6:30 pm on the 9th.

Garrard Volleyball Wins On Senior Night

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County sent Ryan Cain, the Lady Lions' only senior, out with a win Monday on Senior Night with a 2-1 win over North Laurel.

Garrard won a close first game 26-24 before losing game two 25-19 and coming back to take the clincher 25-23.

The win improves Garrard to 8-18 on the season.

The Lady Lions freshmen beat North 2-0 (17-12, 17-7 but the junior varsity lost to the Lady Jags 2-0 (16-21, 13-21.

Lady Lions Third In No. Laurel Tourney

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Garrard County won two of five matches Saturday at North Laurel to finish third in the Steak and Shake Tournament.

Garrard had wins over Leslie County 2-0 (26-14, 25-20) and Jackson County 2-1 (17-21, 22-20, 15-10).

The Lady Lions losses came to Jackson County 2-1 (10-25, 25-17, 12-15), McCreary Central 2-0 (19-15, 21-25) and McCreary Central again 2-0 (14-25, 19-25)

Garrard record after the tournament stands at 7-18 with five of the Lady Lion losses coming to McCreary Central, one of the top rated teams in the 12th Region.

Unbeaten Bourbon County Comes To Town

By Danny Elam
delam@garrardcentralrecord.com

Undefeated Bourbon County come to Dyehouse Stadium Friday night for a huge District Five showdown with the Garrard County Golden Lions.

The 6-0 Colonels are coached by former Garrard standout John Hodge and are coming off a 68-14 win over Estill County. Bourbon is outscoring its opponents by a 52-13 margin.

Senior running back Kentayvous Hopkins is a huge part of the Colonel offense. Hopkins ran for 185 yards on 39 carries in Garrard's 35-34 overtime win last season in Paris and has rushed for 698 yards and 10 touchdowns his season. He has also caught five touchdown passes from junior quarterback Dalton Pope.

Pope has thrown for a total of 10 touchdowns and ran for 264 yards and six more scores.

Junior linebacker Dakota Mitchell leads the Colonels in tackles.

Bourbon has picked off 10 passes. Junior Charles Johnson has four interceptions, returning two for touchdowns.

As good as Hopkins has been Garrard County junior Noah Williams has been just a little better rushing for 742 yards including 340 yards and three touchdowns in the Lions' Friday night win at Powell County.

Talking Sports

With Danny Elam

UK FOOTBALL - Wildcat football was fun for a half Saturday before South Carolina took control in the second half. Wouldn't you have liked to be a fly on the wall in the USC locker room at the half. Steve Spurrier probably peeled the paint off the wall. With Max Smith now out for the season the redshirt comes off Patrick Towles and he and Jalen Whitlow will be the quarterbacks for the rest of the season. With Smith probably getting a medical redshirt UK will have three sophomore quarterbacks on the roster next year. Folks in the Lexington media are now saying Smith's going down will save Joker's job. No one can expect him to win with two true freshman quarterbacks. I say no way. Mississippi State, one of the SEC teams UK should be able to compete with, comes to town Saturday. Let's see what happens.

GARRARD FOOTBALL - Garrard faces a must win game Friday night when unbeaten Bourbon County comes calling. Colonel coach John Hodge played for the Golden Lions and he will no doubt have his team pumped to the max when it rolls into Dyehouse Stadium. Through the first six games the Colonels are an offensive juggernaut. Garrard will need to control the ball on offense and get off the field on defense if they are to win. Bourbon's outstanding senior back Kentayvous Hopkins who is being recruited by several major college teams has rushed for 698 yards this season. Who would have thought that Garrard junior Noah Williams would have more at 742 yards.

MLB - Well all ten playoff teams have been decided after the Cards slipped in Tuesday after the Dodgers lost. Now the fun begins. The Cards will face a tough challenge in the one game shootout at Atlanta but if they can get by that one who knows what will happen. I don't like this setup but without it the Cards would be on the outside looking in.

Governor James Garrard DAR Chapter Enjoyed Slides of Iraq

The Governor James Garrard DAR Chapter met on September 4, 2012, at a new meeting place, the Garrard County Extension Office. We appreciated being able to use one of the brand new meeting rooms with all its technology.

Our Speaker for the meeting was Major Mark Metcalf, our Garrard County Attorney. Attorney Metcalf showed slides of Iraq that were taken during his 5-month tour of duty last year functioning as a JAG officer. (The Army Judge Advocate General's Corps attorney is responsible for offering legal support that involves military operations. They primarily focus on the areas of criminal law, legal assistance, civil/administrative law, labor/employment law, international/operational law and contract/fiscal law.) Mark's pictures showed the palaces that Saddam Hussein named after his daughters, the small areas where he and his co-worker worked, the base of the hill where many bodies were buried and the area where several of our soldiers met once a week to have a cookout and visit. He showed the "Solitary Table" from several different Mess Halls where a soldier who has been captured or killed is remembered. At this table, a plate, napkin and silverware are placed. On the plate are lemon slices and some salt to signify pain and wounds. One single flower is in a vase on the table and there is a plaque above to describe why the table is there as a reminder to never forget.

Garrard County Attorney Mark Metcalf was the speaker at the Governor James Garrard DAR Chapter meeting in September. He spoke about his time in Iraq as a JAG officer.

Some important things for members who were not able to attend the meeting are:

Dues must be received by Betty Slater in October as November 1st is her deadline date to have the dues mailed. Female Veteran Gift Package things we need - 2 crocheted baby hats, disposable diapers (newborn or 3 month size), small package baby wipes, set of socks (3-4 socks - sized newborn or 3 months), 4x6" picture frame, $10 gift certificate to a restaurant. Please bring any of these things to our October or November meetings.

We are considering a fundraiser in support of Duncan Tavern. Funds for this must be mailed to our State Treasurer by December 31st.

October 6 (Saturday) at 9:30 a.m. - Memorial to Mary Desha at the Lexington Cemetery

October 13 (Saturday) Fall Board of Management at Hilton Lexington Downtown. Reservation deadline is October 9th.

October 31 (Wednesday) District III Fall Luncheon Meeting - 11:30 a.m., at Lexington Country Club. Cost is $20 (due by Oct. 24).

If you have questions such as to whom reservations should be made or anything else, please call Carol Smith at 859-548-3528.

Our October meeting (Tuesday, October 16 at 5:30 p.m.) will be held at a different time and place as we will meet with the Logan Whitley Chapter at the Lincoln County Public Library, 201 Lancaster Street, Stanford. Jessieanne Wells, our State Regent, will be the speaker. Carol Smith will need to give the number of ladies attending as Logan Whitley will furnish a meal. We will be arranging car pooling from Lancaster; so, please let Carol know (548-3528) if you will be able to attend.

Second Sunday

By Mary Hixson
FCS Extension Agent

Come join others across the State as communities celebrate physical activity. Second Sunday is the designated day to get out and do something physical like walking, bicycling, playing sports or horseback riding! What makes this special all the people doing something on the same day in recognition of physical activity. Of course, physical activity is important everyday and even if you cannot do something on Second Sunday, everyday is a good day for Second Sunday. This year, Garrard County will have Second Sunday on the Pleasant Retreat Hiking Trail located behind the Extension Office on Sunday, October 14, 3-6 pm. It's special this year because Master Gardeners will be assisting as volunteers plant native plant material along the trail. Come join in and bring your shovel or trowel to help beautify the trail. Call the Extension Office if you can help out or want to know more information at 792-3026. We have some pedometers and stretch bands to give out as long as supply last. So come join in and help enhance the trail and get a little exercise yourself!

Thanks For A Happy Birthday

Hello everyone. I sat down here, all ready to talk to you a few minutes and for the first time in a long time I am speechless. My mind has gone blank. I'm going to run in there and fix me a cup of tea, I'll be right back.

Hi, I am back. As soon as I put on the water to boil I got a thought.One year my two sisters, Carolyn and Janeffer and I were all doing the same work, taking care of retired American Veterans. That year Janeffer was studying for her finals to be a registered nurse. Carolyn and I decided to take her residents along with us on a vacation and that gave Janeffer a week or so to workV on her studies without a lot of distraction.

We had a sixteen-passenger van, so there was plenty of room for all of us and Carolyn's young sons.We had a very interesting and fun trip. As the last day drew upon us we decided to eat one final, good meal with no dishwashing, or cooking. We weresitting there in Danville , in a nice restaurant, with nine men, two kids and us. We were getting looks from all over the place. There was this one lady who had a big, I mean really big hairdo. She ask Carolyn and me to come over to her table. She read both of our palms. (We don't believe in that kind of stuff, but being on vacation, we were in a silly mood) The lady told me to go home and light some green candles and start drinking herbal tea. We kind of laughed it off in the car. I had really bad allergies at the time.Was I ever surprised to go home and find that I already had a green candle on my kitchen counter. I started drinking teas with everyone who came to my house, especially my cousin Jan. After a while my allergies went away and I just know that tea and the time we spent relaxing while we drank it, was the reason.

I want to say THANK YOU to all my lovely family who made my birthday one of the most special nights of my life. Angela and Kenneth had a party for me at her house. She made homemade tacos and all the fixings and two cakes. Carolyn baked a wonderful cake, and Janeffer brought all kinds of chips and dips. I thank God for my family and friends.

Jan, I loved the gift you left in my box. You will always be my favorite cousin too. Our roots are deep and we have a lot of the same blood flowing in our veins. I am really looking forward to us going somewhere for a day out.

To everyone who called or sent messages by e-mail and cards, I appreciate every thought and every gift , deep down in my heart.

Good bye . May God Bless you all, till we talk again. Joyce

So Much To Be Thankful For

Hi to my family, friends and neighbors. How is everyone doing? Fine I hope.

We are blessed if we are able to get up and walk. There are so many sick and can hardly wait on themselves. We have so much to be thankful for and I do thank Jesus every day. I'm not well but I can still get up and walk. I don't get to go to church much anymore but people still visit me.

Edward & Genevie, Irene Nunn and Johnny Bryant and Connor visited on Sunday.

My granddaughter Regina Johnson visited us Monday morning.

Marilyn Payne visited on Tuesday and grandson Billy Bryant visited Wednesday.

Thanks to my grandson Johnny Bryant's wife Tara for bringing me a coconut pie. She knows I like them.

My family and friends are so good to me but I love people and try to be good to everybody.

Hi Venessa Cheek, Debbie Coffee, Louise Greiner and Anna Frances Lear, you said you were going to take The Central Record.

Pray for our service boys and girls.

We are getting some good rain. Maybe the creeks will fill up.

God bless one and all for we need him today.

Harvest Tea - Oct. 5

Kindness is a language which the deaf can hear and the blind can see.

Good Sunday September 30, 2012 to our relatives, neighbors, friends and readers. This is a beautiful fall day. Hope you and yours are well and happy. We are okay.

Pleasant Run Baptist Church entertained the Mt. Pleasant District Auxiliary Meeting on Saturday, September 29. We had forty plus in attendance. Pastor Mitchell Brown delivered the preached word. Subject: "Foundation of the Church:. Many seemed to enjoy the message. We enjoyed a good dinner along with the district bringing a dish to add to the host church.

Sunday after Sunday School Pastor Brown preached from Matthew 24: 29-45. Subject: "Jesus is Coming Soon, Be Ready." We know not the time. Nieces Sister Terri Murphy and Sister LaDonna Waiganjo sang "Come Speak to Me Jesus" and "The Wicked Shall Seek From Troubling". Both beautiful renditions.

Harvest Tea will be held October 5, 2012 at First Baptist Church of Berea at 6:30 pm, Pastor Rev. J.K. Cunningham. You are welcome to share with us.

We share our love and prayers to the Ellis Dunn family in Columbus GA. He was the son of the late Rebecca and Lucien Dunn.

Also to the family of Cecil Dunn on West Buford Street in Lancaster.

Earth has no sorrow that Heaven cannot heal.

Oh yes, no one sang in church Sunday to the birthday girls, Sister Rita and Sister "O".

That's all. Signing off.

Open House at PL Arts Center Fri. Villagefest This Saturday

Good morning readers.

It's time for the Open House of The Paint Lick Community Arts Center (the old bank building) on Friday evening starting at 5:30. You will be amazed!! Then.....It's VillageFest.... Paint Lick's 22nd annual VillageFest is this Saturday here in the street and everyone is welcome to come and share in our big day as all the vendors from everywhere will set up in their wares. We have The Gospel Barn who will have their large yard sale including a 'complete roofing trailer with the elevator, compressor, torching gun and all extra equipment'. Walter Jones and Myrtle have a variety of good furniture also for a reasonable price. They will be out from 8am--3pm and are on the hill just as you come into Paint Lick from Madison county side. Pat Baker and her crew will have handmade "Bible or personal boxes"... I love mine and it holds my daddy's family Bible given to me at his passing.

Silas Keen will be there on Saturday with this year's home made in Paint Lick Honey. (gathered at the old Todd Farm)

The Paint Lick Christian Church ladies will be serving bowls of hot soup beans, fried cornbread and all the baked goodies you will need. Rickie Collette, Dora Bowles, Linda Caldwell and Loraine Todd will hold the Friends 'Porch' sale and I hope to be serving up some hot potato soup to benefit our Friends of Paint Lick. Coffee will be available.

Loretta Adams and the other volunteers will be holding their silent auction and we will have some raffle items on display.

Come early and set up your table, or your tent and even the tailgate on your truck will do to get the day going strong. I probably have not mentioned everyone who will be here, but just show up and enjoy the day. It will wind up at 3pm?

It was a pleasure to have friends of the Paint Lick Christian Church with us on Sunday. Harry and Deborah Bolen are good friends with Pastor Ted and his wife Barbara.

The Paint Lick Church of God is having their "Fall Homecoming" starting this Thursday and Friday evening beginning at 7pm, with Rev. Teddy Couch and Rev. Ryan Osborne respectively. Sunday morninvg services will host Rev. Andy Saylor (from our post office..remember) with a lunch provided after the welcome by Pastors Patrick and Ashley Roberts. The church is on the Old Railroad and everyone is welcome. For more info, call 859-227--9935.

Susie and Doug Tussey of Round Hill's General Store will have a fish fry this Saturday from 4--8pm. It will be a good wrap up for the day to enjoy myself when the VillageFest is done. If you want some good tasting fish served with a warm smile, go on over to Round Hill. You will enjoy!

Happy birthday to Mrs. Bertha McQuerry this Friday. She will be 90 years young. My sister-in- law, Francine Alexander will be another year younger, also on Friday. Another sister-in-law, Madrew K.Alexander will be celebrating her big day on Sunday Oct. 7 . I pray that you all will have a grand birthday and may God hold you in the palm of HIS hand.

A Lust For Rust

Hello readers.

Hope this finds everyone well and happy on this rainy morning. Seems like all it does is rain but I guess that's better than snow. I dread that day. We just have to take what the good Lord gives us.

Gilead Church had our homecoming Sunday. We enjoyed fellowship and a good dinner with each other. We had singing with just our church. That's what a homecoming is all about.

Four women from Lancaster came down and had lunch the other day, Kathy Lee, Darlene Edgington, Lydia Gay and Montie Prewitt. I appreciate it very much. I love to meet new people and talk over things. Sometimes you wind up being almost kin to them or from the same part of the country.

Nelma Martin and Judy Williams came by too, just out driving around and looking. There certainly is nothing wrong with that. I like to do it myself but I never get to go.

I am making homemade chili today for lunch. It's getting to be chili weather.

Happy birthday to all that have a birthday on October. My husband John's birthday is the 27th. If he had lived he would have been 84. But God saw fit to take him home. He is in a better place.

Pray for the sick and shutins, our nation and leaders. God knows we need it.

God bless all.

More From Steve

Hello friends, and neighbors on Nina Ridge and all areas of Garrard County and everyone who takes the Central Record.

Great weather for ducks and making mud balls. When I was younger I had a pretty good throwing arm. I would make mud balls kind of like snow balls only a little smaller. This was good, cheap fun. Just go along the plowed ground next to the garden or the tobacco patch and make up a bunch of mud balls and start hurling them into space to just see how hard I could throw and how far they would go before landing and going splat!

I grew up using my creativity to compensate for the lack of assets or at a location where you could buy at the ready what you wanted. So making do with what I had became a normal activity. If I wanted to accessorize my toy car and truck collection or action figures I would use fruit jar boxes with the slots for the jars to separate my cars and trucks.

If I wanted a wagon to go with my Johnny West figure horses I would take an old shoe box and paint it like a wagon. Use popsicle sticks for racks and pencils for staves to hold up the canvas for the cover of the wagon. Old thread spools made great wheels or jar tops, what ever I could scrounge up usually was what was applied to the project.

This type of fabricating growing up made my outlook on material of now use to be my source fro re=purposing just about anything I come to find.

You fill buildings and barns with items. You see them for not what they are but what they can be. So you become a collector of items that in your mind has much use and then after 30 or 40 years you have more projects than you could bring in to competition in two life times.

Well this is my dilemma of course but I can't help who I am. I love junk and I know I have a clinical problem. But it was born in to me and I will die this way. If anyone out there has the condition known in the clinical term Pack-Rattis-Garbagcus. or in my case Rustidus or I could say I lust for rust. The Lord will have to forgive this shortcoming.

Well I have enjoyed sharing this with you. Give me a call or come by Nina Ridge Store and see me. Mom's always there and she knows where I am. Probably out looking for my next treasure.

Goodbye and God bless.

Turned The Heat On

Hi Folks.

The weather is changing almost every hour. We have turned the heat on almost every day. Now that October has arrived we know it tells us that fall is here. Also the leaves are falling from our trees.

I've had Husband busy digging holes to put out mums. I have been buying them by the threes. I get them in Danville where they are selling them at $5.95 each when you buy three. It's on Hustonville Road near a bank on the right. He tries to avoid going by it when we go to Danville to eat on Sundays.

He is now using his bad leg as an excuse that was caused by him getting behind a chair to clean some tables in the living room. He tried several times to get up but it didn't work. I was wondering if I was going to have to call for help but he finally got up by using his right leg which has no muscle due to his World War II wound.

We are still watching the Reds on TV. They play almost every day. They won Sunday against the Pirates.

The Kentucky Wildcats lost to South Carolina. The first quarter looked good but the last quarter was a big loss. Maybe next game they will win.

This week will be the big fuss between the Democrats and Republicans. I am not looking forward to it.. Most people have already decided who they will vote for.

Our country is in such a mess that no one can solve anyway soon. I pray that God will decide our future not the Devil who is at an all time high..

Our granddaughter's husband Michael Hubbach dropped a heavy pipe on his big toe resulting in surgery to his big toe. He is now on crutches. I hope he gets to keep his nail.

Good luck everyone and vote for the one who can and will seek God's leadership.

Bye all.

Sympathies To Cecil Dunn's Family

I am so happy that the president's wife and vice-president's wife continue to help young men in the war zone that are coming home to find adequate homes to live in. Some are ill some are not. Soldiers are still suffering. Please don't forget the older veterans that are confined to hospitals or homes that are still very ill.

I continue to mention the bad curve in front of my house is still there. A girl went over in a field Friday night. Don't think she was hurt. Her parents were very upset. These roads in the county can be dangerous.

I saw a beautiful sight this morning, two beautiful deer in my back yard. I love deer but don't like for them to eat up my flowers.

Janet went back to work today. Hope she will do well in her wheelchair.

Our sympathy goes to the family of Cecil Dunn. He has been in the county all of his life. He and Arthur used to play football together.

Fall of the year is beginning to take over. I can't believe it is October. Seasons come and go so fast. I have not seen many walnuts yet. Last year there were plenty. One man told me he had $500 worth.

I had my flu shot on Friday morning. This is my 21st year of taking it. Some say they will never take one. The health department says they are very safe.

Now that the weather is cooler and very pretty take a ride into the mountains you will never forget.

Be sure you get out and vote. That's the right thing to do.

Cedar Creek Lake Receives First Stocking Of Rainbow Trout On Oct. 2

FRANKFORT, Ky. - Kentucky anglers will have a new trout fishery to enjoy during the cooler weather months. Rainbow trout stockings will begin at Cedar Creek Lake in Lincoln County Oct. 2.

The fisheries division of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources will stock 12,000 rainbow trout at three sites: the ramp at the dam; the ramp on old U.S. 150, located in mid-lake; and at the fishing access area in the upper lake, located adjacent to the KY 1770 bridge. Each site will receive 4,000 trout.

"The trout look great," said Gerry Buynak, assistant director of fisheries for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "They are about 10 inches. Because of the popularity of Cedar Creek Lake, we expect to see good returns for anglers."

Another stocking of 9,000 trout will follow in February.

"We should have these fish all the way into June of 2013, when the water grows too warm for trout," said Jeff Ross, assistant director of fisheries for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

Fisheries personnel plan to conduct a creel survey on Cedar Creek Lake and a concurrent angler attitude survey. They also plan to tag 600 of the trout to determine angler utilization of the fish.

"We strongly encourage people to return the tag if they catch a tagged trout," said Dave Dreves, fisheries research biologist for Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. "We have four metal boxes around the lake where anglers may get an envelope on one side of the box, fill out the information and a slot on the other side of the box to deposit the envelope."

The boxes will be located at the stocking sites and also at the Cowan Road boat ramp. The envelopes are postage paid. Anglers may take them home to fill them out, then send them back to Kentucky Fish and Wildlife. Anglers must include their name, address, phone number and whether they kept the trout or released it.

"Those who participate will receive a pewter fish pin," Dreves said. "They also are entered into a monthly drawing for cash prizes."

A total of nine drawings will be made each month: one $100 winner, one $50 winner, two $25 winners and five $10 winners. "You stay in until you win," Dreves said.

Buynak also encouraged anglers who catch these fish to harvest them.

"Adult anglers must have a trout permit to harvest trout," Buynak said. "A trout permit is included in the senior/disabled license and the Sportsman's license. Buy a trout permit and take these fish home and eat them. Trout will likely die after catching and releasing them."

These stockings will be conducted over a three-year period. After three years, the program will be reevaluated to determine whether to continue the stockings.

MASTER COMMISSIONER'S SALE
SATURDAY, 10 AM ON OCTOBER 20, 2012
GARRARD COUNTY JUSTICE CENTER
54 STANFORD STREET

In order to comply with the orders of the Garrard Circuit Court the Master Commissioner of the Garrard Circuit Court will sell the property described in actions found and described in the attachments hereto in the Garrard County Justice Center, 54 Stanford Street, Lancaster, Kentucky. Said property shall be sold to raise the amounts set forth below plus interest and other costs as stated in the judgments referenced. The sale of said property will be subject to the following terms and conditions:

The terms of the sale shall be either cash or ten (10%) percent of the purchase price in the form of a cash deposit at the time of sale and balance of the purchase price on a credit of 60 days. If the purchaser elects to take credit for the balance then the purchaser will be required to post bond and furnish acceptable surety thereon. Said bond shall be for the unpaid balance of the purchase price and bear interest at the rate of twelve (12%) percent per annum from the date of sale until paid.

The purchaser shall be required to assume and pay all taxes levied against said property for the current tax year and all subsequent years. The sale of the real estate shall be made subject to all zoning and building regulations, restrictions, ordinances, easements, covenants, and rights-of-way, of record, or otherwise. The property shall be sold "as is", and possession shall pass to the purchaser upon delivery of deed. Risk of loss shall pass to the purchaser upon execution of bond of sale or payment of the purchase price whichever should occur first.

A right of redemption may exist in favor of any party.

Possession of the real property will be given to the purchaser upon confirmation of the report of sale by the Garrard Circuit Court, delivery of a Commissioner's Deed to the purchaser and full payment of the purchase price plus interest as herein before described.

ADDRESSES OF PROPERTIES ADVERTISED ARE APPROXIMATE. PROPERTIES WILL BE SOLD ACCORDING TO DEED DESCRIPTION.

Kentuckians Get Chance At Polls To Ensure Right To Hunt And Fish

FRANKFORT, Ky. - Kentuckians get the opportunity during next month's elections to constitutionally solidify their hunting and fishing heritage by voting for a constitutional amendment that guarantees their personal right to hunt, fish and harvest wildlife through traditional methods.

The 2011 Kentucky General Assembly overwhelmingly passed House Bill 1, also known as "The Right to Hunt and Fish," which established a ballot initiative during the November 2012 general election.

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources worked closely with the bill's sponsors, as did the League of Kentucky Sportsmen and the National Rifle Association. The Commonwealth is seeking to join more than a dozen other states that already have passed constitutional hunting or fishing guarantees, including Arkansas, Alabama, California, South Carolina, Georgia, Louisiana, Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, Wisconsin and Alaska.

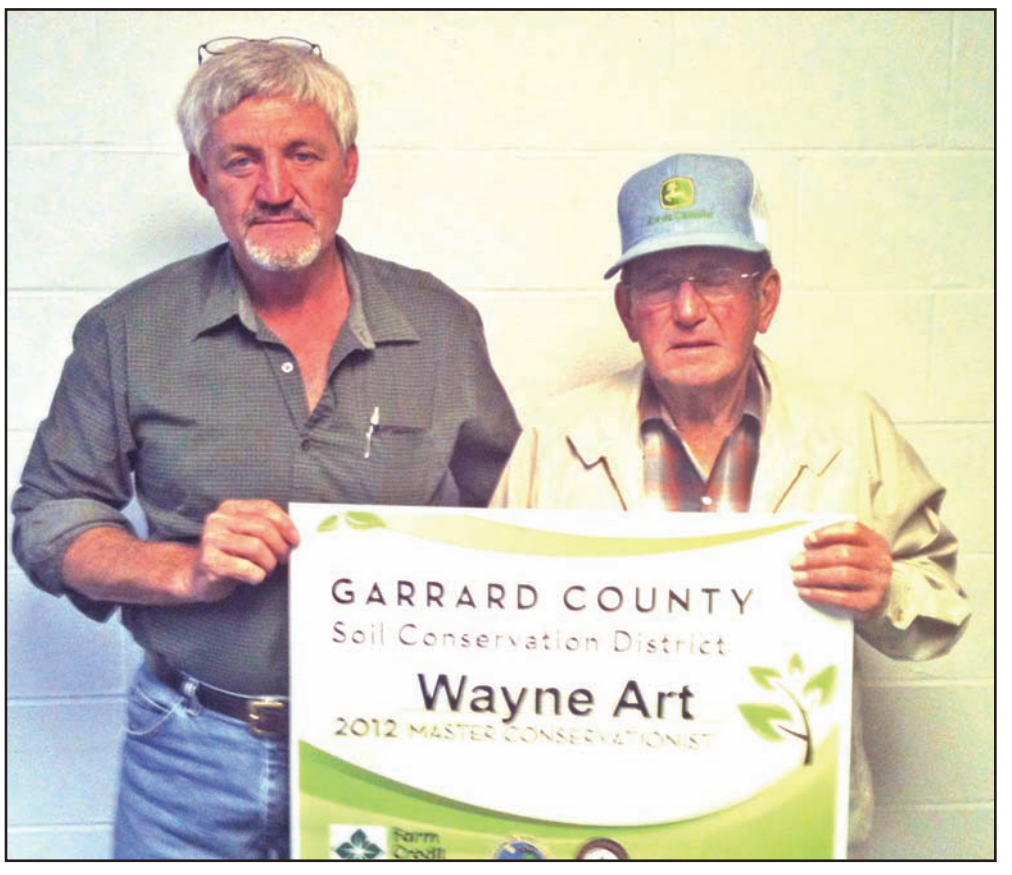

Idaho and Nebraska voters also get the chance to amend their constitutions with similar amendments next month.

The full text of the HB1/ Constitutional Amendment reads:

"The citizens of Kentucky have the personal right to hunt, fish, and harvest wildlife, using traditional methods, subject only to statutes enacted by the Legislature, and to administrative regulations adopted by the designated state agency to promote wildlife conservation and management and to preserve the future of hunting and fishing. Public hunting and fishing shall be a preferred means of managing and controlling wildlife. This section shall not be construed to modify any provision of law relating to trespass, property rights, or the regulation of commercial activities."

Preserving Kentucky's rich hunting and fishing heritage remains central, but hunting, fishing and wildlife-related recreation also are tremendous economic engines in today's Commonwealth. They generate more than $3 billion in economic impact and 34,000 jobs annually. They produce nearly $209 million in state and local tax revenues.

"Kentucky was known as the Happy Hunting Ground long before it became a state, and Kentuckians today still enjoy hunting and fishing at higher rates than the national average," said Dr. Jon Gassett, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "We are fortunate to have the chance next month at the polls to join many other states that have already taken steps to ensure that heritage continues for our grandchildren and theirs."

Master Conservationists

The Garrard County Conservation District Board has chosen the Art Family as the 2012 Master Conservationists of Garrard County for the outstanding contributions they have made for farmland conservation. Mr. Wayne Art, and wife Lora, currently farms 200 acres on HWY 52 east in the Paint Lick Area. They have a cow/calf operation maintaining 75 cows per year. Mr. Art is a very neat producer who insists on implementing and maintaining conservation practices on his land. He has used his farm continuously to promote agricultural production while conserving the land. The Arts have completed State Cost Share Practices; including a 422 Foot Grassed Waterway and (2) RipRap Chutes. These practices have been done in addition to day to day farm operations. Fall Forest Fire Season Begins Oct. 1

Citizens Reminded To Take Precaution, Adhere To Outdoor Burning Laws

FRANKFORT, Ky. (Oct. 1, 2012) – The Kentucky Division of Forestry (KDF) is once again preparing for an active wildfire season as lack of rain this summer and increased fuel loads from spring storms could pose problems for fighting fires.

"Despite recent rainfalls, most of Kentucky is still very dry, especially the western part of the state," said Leah MacSwords, director of KDF. "In addition to the drought, the spring tornadoes have left many of our woodlands damaged. The accumulation of storm-damaged trees and limbs not only create additional 'fuel' for wildland fire, it increases the danger to our firefighters."

Forestry officials say that taking extra precautions with fires around homes and camp fires as well as being alert to forest arson can eliminate the majority of wildfires that occur in Kentucky. Other recommendations include the following:

· Be aware of all outdoor burning restrictions, including forest fire hazard seasons, air quality and waste management regulations, restrictions imposed by local ordinances and county burn bans.

· Avoid burning anything during fire hazard seasons and during times of dry, windy conditions. Outdoor burning is illegal between the hours of 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. within 150 feet of any woodland or brushland during forest fire seasons.

· Extinguish all fires completely. Never leave a fire unattended and always extinguish fires if conditions become too windy.

· Allow hot ashes from woodstoves and fireplaces to cool before disposing outdoors.

· Extinguish smoking materials properly. Put out cigarettes, cigars, or pipes only in cleared areas free of vegetation or flammable material.

· Avoid parking cars, trucks, or recreational vehicles on dry vegetation. The exhaust system on a vehicle can reach a temperature of more than 1,000 degrees, which is hot enough to start a wildfire.

· Incorporate "Firewise" practices around homes and communities in forested areas. Firewise practices range from creating defensible space by removing leaves, vegetation and firewood to ensuring access for safety personnel and equipment in rural or isolated areas.

· And as always - Report suspicious acts of arson to the nearest Kentucky State Police post or call the Target Arson Hotline at 1-800-27-ARSON.

An Encouraging Word

A FORMULA FOR FACING LIFE

By Howard Coop

By Howard Coop

Someone with a keen sense of humor or an ability to observe has been quoted as saying, "Life is so daily." Therefore, a question one faces almost on a daily basis is: How do I face life when it has so many ups and downs, turns and twists, and ins and outs?

There is a good answer to this question. It is found in a formula for facing life that is, indeed, ancient in origin. It can be traced back to the late winter or early spring of 56 AD when Nero, whose brutal behavior made his name a byword, was Emperor of the Roman Empire.

It is a fact. In life, bad things happen regularly, but we are not to attempt to "get even" by overcoming one bad thing with another bad thing. Two wrongs, under any combination of conditions, do not make a right.

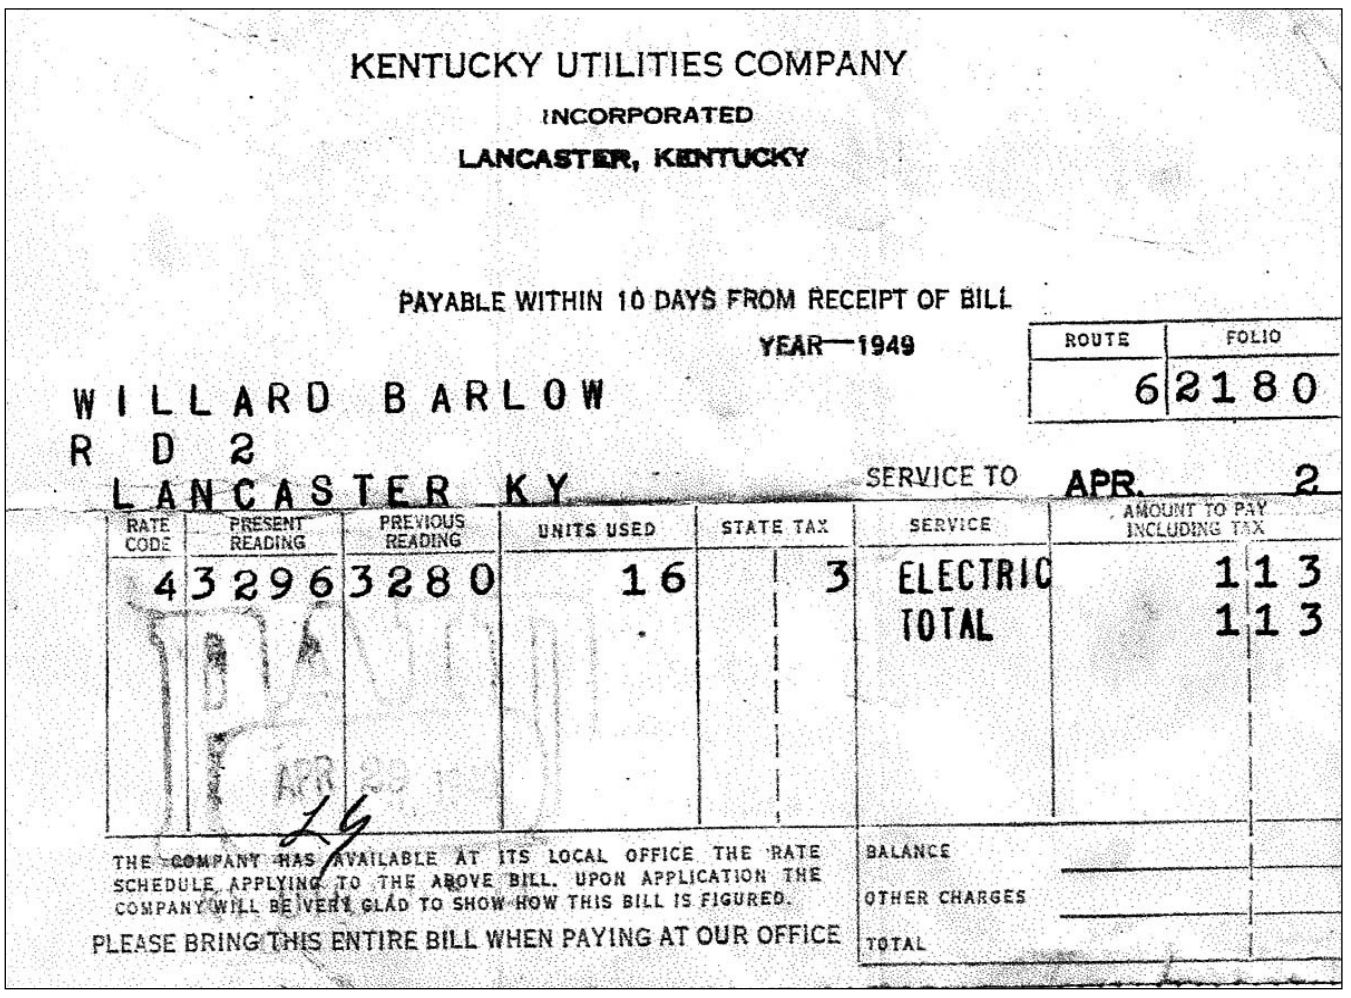

In all situations and under all circumstances, forget what others may do; they, not you, are responsible for their actions. Your responsibility is simple: At all times, just be careful to do what is right.

It may not be easy, but it may be possible. Let peaceful living begin with you. Therefore, as far as it depends upon you, live in peace with everyone around you.

Benjamin Franklin, the common-sense philosopher of the eighteenth century, has been quoted as saying, "'Tis more noble to forgive and more manly to despise, than to revenge an injury." Therefore, do not seek revenge, but leave that to the One who is able to handle it.

There is evil in the world, and it is a powerful force with which one has to contend. But good is also present, and it is a greater and more powerful force. At all times and under all conditions, overcome evil with good.

This formula for life has been tested by time and proven in the crucible of life; therefore it is reliable and will lead to triumphant living.

Orders Being Taken For KY's New Smallmouth Bass License Plate

FRANKFORT, Ky. - The Kentucky Department of Transportation recently approved the sale of a new special license plate depicting the world record smallmouth bass.

"The new license plate commemorates David L. Hayes' world record smallmouth bass caught in Kentucky from Dale Hollow Lake in 1955," said Chad Miles, director of the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Foundation. "The proceeds from the sale of this plate support conservation education efforts in Kentucky, mainly the summer conservation camps at Camp John Currie on Kentucky Lake, Camp Earl Wallace on Lake Cumberland and Camp Robert C. Webb on Grayson Lake."

Hayes caught the 11-pound, 15-ounce world record smallmouth bass while trolling a Bomber crankbait near the location of the new boat ramp at Dale Hollow State Resort Park on the morning of July 9, 1955. The center of the new license plate is a reproduction of renowned wildlife artist Rick Hill's painting of the world record smallmouth.

The plate costs $25. Preorders are now being accepted. "You get a $25 credit and will receive a postcard in March of 2013 to pick up your plate," Miles said. "Early signups will be taken until Oct. 20. Our goal is to sell 900 plates by then."

This special plate replaces a normal license plate. "They will have the correct sticker for your birth month on the plate when you pick it up," Miles explained. "It will be the same when you go to renew your tags."

To purchase a plate, visit www.kentuckywildlife.com and click on the link provided.

KSP Asks Citizens To "Text A Tip"

To Fight Crime

(FRANKFORT, Ky.) - The Kentucky State Police is initiating a new proactive program where citizens are now able to text confidential tips from their cell phone. The program, "Text a Tip," is designed to report criminal activity, assist with neighborhood watch and serve as an additional resource for schools and college campuses.

"Text a Tip" is completely confidential and easy to use. Anyone with texting capabilities from personal electronic devices can simply text 67283 in the address field, then type KSPTIP in the message field, leave a space and then enter information about a crime. If your tip went through successfully, you will receive an instant confirmation text on your phone.

Web-based and phone tip lines have been around a while, but have the disadvantage of a perpetrator overhearing the person on the phone or they required Internet access.

KSP Spokesperson, Sgt. Rick Saint-Blancard says "Text a Tip" is gaining ground because text messaging does not require verbal communication or Internet access. "Everywhere you go, someone has a cell phone with them," says Saint-Blancard. "Whether a person is at home or a large venue, like a sporting event or concert, they can text a tip to us without bringing attention to themselves."

Saint-Blancard says people who live in high-crime neighborhoods are often afraid that if they are seen talking to police, they could be subject to retaliation from drug dealers or other criminals.

"So when they have this option of texting us — knowing no one will know who they are — they are more willing to provide specific details and names about the activity," he adds. "Text a Tip" messages are sent to a separate, third-party server, where identifying information is stripped out and they are assigned an encrypted alias before being sent to police.

Text-a-tip programs are being promoted in schools across the country to report weapon threats and reduce bullying.

"No technology is more powerful then the eyes and ears of the public," adds Saint-Blancard. "The key is enlisting people on their own terms by providing a discrete, immediate and confidential reporting source."

KSP reminds citizens to keep safety in mind when texting tips.

"If a tipster is driving when they witness suspicious activity, we ask them to safely pull to the side of the road and place their vehicle in park before attempting to text in a tip," says Saint-Blancard.

The "Text a Tip" program is operational 24 Hours a Day / 7 Days a Week and is received and monitored by the KSP Communications Center. KSP openly solicits information from citizens on any type of crime occurring but encourages citizens to call "911" if the crime is in-progress or there is an emergency.

Detailed instructions of the program can be found on the KSP website at http://www.kentuckystatepolice.org/pdf/text_a_tip_sheet.pdf .

For more information about the "Text a Tip" program please contact the KSP Public Affairs Branch at (502) 782-1780.

"Unbelievable!"

"Awesome!"

"Incredible!"

Everyone cheered, thrilled about completing our first zip-line ride, although I was still scared about having to make a confession.

"Uh, Miss Sam, I have something to tell you."

"What's wrong, fella?" Sam asked, as everyone looked frightened.

"You know when I was zipping really fast?"

"Yes," Sam answered.

"Well, I, uh, don't know how to tell you, uh … ."

"Spit it out, Woody."

"I lost two apples, one grapefruit and a bowl of oatmeal!"

Everyone breathed a sigh of relief and then laughed.

"You aren't the first to lose their cookies, Woody, and you won't be the last," Sam said, rubbing my head.

Dad was right – confession was good for the soul.

"OK, folks, let's eat lunch," Sam suggested.

We found a beautiful place in the gorge to eat our sack lunch. Mom packed turkey sandwiches on whole wheat bread with lettuce and tomato for each of us. Mom let us choose our own sides.

"Those pineapple slices look yummy, Chloe," I said as my sister pulled out her side items.

"Thanks! I brought pineapple, carrots and yogurt," she said. "What healthy sides did you pack, Woody?"

"A few fruits and vegetables," I answered, pulling out my watermelon jawbreakers and fried green tomatoes.

Everyone froze. I wish I'd packed enough for everyone.

"Hold it, junk-food junkie," Sam ordered. "I hardly consider watermelon jawbreakers a fruit. And the nutritional advantages of tomatoes were lost when they were fried. Pass it over, puppy."

Obeying, I handed over my sides, hoping Chloe would share her fruit slices so I'd have something to go with my sandwich.

"Remember how we talk about eating a well-balanced diet of fruits, vegetables, dairy, meats and grains?" Dad asked.

"He's right," Sam said. "Studies prove that people who maintain a healthy weight stay well and live longer than those who are overweight. Diet and exercise also reduce our risk of diabetes, heart disease, high blood pressure and some cancers."

"Here, eat this," Sam said, handing us each a piece of a fruit I'd never seen. It was the size of an orange but the color was a deep ruby red.

"Thanks, but I'll pass," I said, turning up my nose.

"To develop healthier eating habits, you must expand your taste buds," Sam said, echoing what our parents told us frequently. My parents looked at me as if to say, "I told you so!"

"During boot camp you will try at least one new healthy food each day. You don't have to like everything," Sam said, "but you do have to eat at least three bites. The fruit I've just given you is a pomegranate. It's different from other fruits because the tastiest part is the seeds."

We cut open the ripe fruit and dug out the crimson seeds. I held them in my paw, smelled them and then popped one in my mouth. My mouth automatically puckered up at the tart fruit.

"Wow! These taste like a cross between Nerds and SweeTarts," I said with fish lips.

"And to think you almost missed out because you were a scaredy-cat," Sam said, teasing. "OK, folks, kitchen's closed," Sam said as she rose from the table.

"Don't forget to pick up the trash, pups," Mom said, gathering up garbage. There was trash that wasn't ours, but we picked it up anyway. Mom and Dad have always taught us that if everyone does what needs to be done, life runs more smoothly. After the trash was in the cans, Mom retrieved and read Rx 2 from Doc Albert.

Turn right onto Highway 11 and follow the highway until you reach Highway 15. Turn right on Highway 15 and drive for about 10 miles to Tunnel Ridge Road. Another trainer named Pete will meet you at that intersection and give you further instructions.

"I hate to leave you pups, but my work is done," Sam said as she hugged us. "You need to get going. Pete's waiting. And Woody, so you know, Pete's a guy," Sam said, winking again.

We thanked Sam and told her we hoped to see her again.

"What will Pete have us do?" Chloe asked.

"It's top secret," Sam answered.

"Just one little hint?" Chloe asked.

With that, Sam pretended that she had locked her lips and thrown away the key.

FARM SERVICE AGENCY NEWS TIDBITS

The Lincoln-Garrard Co Farm Service Agency would like to make producers aware that November 1, 2012 is the deadline for requesting a Family member transfer (CCC-971) effective for the 2013 contract payment for the Tobacco Transition Payment Program (tobacco buyout). Any CCC-971 family member transfer request filed after November 1, 2012, will be held and not processed until the 2013 contract payment has been issued in January 2013 to the contract holder.

There is not a deadline to transfer the 2013 or any prior year payments when the CCC-971 transfer reason is due to the death of the existing contract holder or dissolved entity.

If you have changed banks since last year, the new banking information will need to be submitted so that we can route your payment to the correct financial institution. Changes in address should also be submitted.

For more information, contact the Stanford FSA Service Center at 102 Metker Trail, Stanford, KY, or call 606-365-2588.
